1 Claimants Elizabeth Adams, Mary Adams, and David Agostino, et al. (collectively, the 2 “Objecting Camp Fire Claimants”) (listed fully in Appendix A), which include over 1,000 victims
3 of the 2018 Camp Fire, hereby object¹ to the Debtors’ Motion Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 363(b) and 4 105(a) and Fed R. Bankr. P. 6004 and 9019 For Entry of an Order (I) Authorizing the Debtors to 5 Settle the Claims of Tubbs Preference Claimants and (II) Granting Related Relief (the “Tubbs 6 Settlement Motion”) [Dkt. No. 5282], and the Debtors’ Motion Pursuant to 11 U.S.C §§ 105(a) and 7 107(b) and Fed. R. Bankr. P. 9018 for Entry of an Order Authorizing Redaction and Sealing of 8 Confidential Information from Tubbs Settlement Documents (“Tubbs Redaction Motion”) [Dkt. No.
9 5284], and state as follows:

10 Objection

11 According to the Debtors, a “precondition” of their RSA with the Tort Claimants Committee
12 (the “TCC”) was that “the parties agree to resolve . . . the state court cases of the Tubbs Preference 13 Claimants.” Dkt. No. 5282 at 7. To meet this (apparently) non-negotiable condition, the Debtors and 14 the Tubbs Preference Claimants struck a deal: rather than proceed with an imminent trial—a course
15 the TCC had once forcefully advocated—they agreed to resolve the Tubbs Preference Claimants’ 16 claims swiftly and entirely. See id. at 8.

17 But this deal came with a curious catch. Despite forming the backbone of a plan that could 18 affect the livelihoods of tens of thousands of wildfire victims, the settlements were required to not 19 only (i) be paid solely with pre-committed funds from the eventual Fire Victim Trust, but also (ii)
20 remain “confidential and sealed.” Id. at 10 (emphasis added).

21 These terms should be fatal to the Tubbs Settlement Motion and Tubbs Redaction Motion
22 for three (3) reasons. First, the terms prevent the TCC and fire victims from having an opportunity 23 to evaluate how the settlements will impact the funds available in the eventual Fire Victim Trust.
24 For example, the Objecting Camp Fire Claimants will soon be asked to vote on a restructuring plan 25 that purports to provide $13.5 billion in funds for wildfire victims, including themselves. But that 26

27 ¹ This objection is filed solely on behalf of the undersigned counsels’ individual clients. This objection is not 28 filed on behalf of any member of the TCC, any working group of the TCC, or the TCC itself.

1 $13.5 billion figure is literally meaningless if an outsized portion has already been set aside for a 2 select few claimants.

3 Second, the confidentiality provision prevents the Objecting Camp Fire Claimants and other
4 fire victims from accessing critical datapoints that reflect PG&E's evaluation of claims in the context
5 of pending litigation. These datapoints may shed light on the value of wildfire claims more broadly, 6 including whether the proposed $13.5 billion trust is likely to make wildfire victims whole.

7 Third, the confidentiality provision prevents the Objecting Camp Fire Claimants and other 8 fire victims from evaluating the propriety of the settlements to begin with, particularly given that 9 they were reached on the eve of trial and were effectively a prerequisite to the RSA.² Just six months
10 ago, the TCC argued that it would be impossible to "adequately capitalize a Trust [or] negotiate a 11 consensual plan . . . without resolving PG&E liability for the Tubbs Fire Claims." Dkt. 2843 at 13.
12 It emphasized that the Debtors' own lead counsel had stated: "we can't figure out how to resolve 13 these until we have some visibility into what the resolution is going to be of the Tubbs case." Id. at 14 26 (citation omitted). And it concluded that the only "solution" was a trial. Id. at 8. But that trial
15 never happened, and without any insight into the terms of the Tubbs settlements, the Objecting 16 Camp Fire Claimants are left wondering: what changed so dramatically, and why?

17 Conclusion

18 Accordingly, the Objecting Camp Fire Claimants submit this objection and respectfully
19 request that the Court (i) deny the Tubbs Redaction Motion, (ii) require the Debtors and the Tubbs 20 Preference Claimants to fully disclose the terms of their settlements, and (iii) withhold approval of 21 the Tubbs Settlement Motion until the Debtors and the Tubbs Preference Claimants have fully 22 disclosed the terms of their settlements.

26 ² That these settlements were codified as precondition to the RSA, were then quickly negotiated by a group of 27 repeat players, and are now shrouded in secrecy, raises the specter that one or more negotiating parties and/or 28 representatives ran afoul of 18. U.S.C § 152(6). But because the Objecting Camp Fire Claimants and other fire victims don't have an opportunity to evaluate these settlements, any impropriety will likely go unchecked, and the consequences could ultimately harm thousands of fire victims.

1 Respectfully submitted,
